

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

BOOK NOTICES.

General Digest, 1891. Vol. VI. The Lawyers' Coöperative Publishing Company, Rochester, N. Y. Especially noteworthy in this digest is the success which has been attained in avoiding confusing repetition. Each paragraph contains a distinct point of law and every effort has been made to prevent its reappearance in slightly different language. The citations are principally official and include the decisions of the principal courts in the United States, England, and Canada. The matter is rendered unusually available by the many titles and cross-references, many of the former being new, such as, for example, the title of "Secrets," which relates to the comparatively new and important subject of property in secrets. In classification, arrangement, and every other point of view, it is an admirable digest.

Lawyers' Reports, Annotated. Book XII. (12 L. R. A.) Edited by Robert Desty. The Lawyers' Coöperative Pub. Co., Rochester, N. Y. This volume includes all the current cases of general value and importance decided in the United States, State, and Territorial Courts, fully annotated by the editor. In the annotations, comparisons and elaborations give a view of the law as it now exists. Some of the most valuable of these discuss the subjects of Mechanics' Liens, Patents for Combinations, Delivery of Deeds, Conspiracies or Boycotts, Homestead Exemptions, and Collateral Inheritance Taxes. In view of the increasing number of reports, text-books, and treatises, the method followed in this volume ought to constantly increase in popularity and become a great labor saving device to the lawyer.